Show Your Library Card & Save During Library Card Sign-Up Month

Year round, Bullitt County Public Library offers benefits that save you money, from free internet and Wi-Fi access to a circulating collection of over 860,000 items. Not only can cardholders borrow books, movies, magazines, and music for free, they also have free, 24/7 access to popular streaming services like Hoopla, Kanopy, Kentucky Libraries Unbound, and RBDigital.

Plus, the Library offers a multitude of free services and events: take one-on-one computer classes; bring your kids for fun, interactive learning experiences; experiment with new technologies and fun craft projects; take advantage of free meeting space; use powerful research and online learning tools; enjoy free, live music and theater performances; and more. The possibilities are endless!

And this September, we're celebrating the power of your library card all across Bullitt County! In honor of National Library Card Sign-up Month, we're teaming up with local businesses for our second annual Show Your Library Card & Save event. From September 1st to September 30th, just show your Bullitt County Public Library card at participating businesses to receive exclusive discounts and special offers!

Participating businesses include Accurate Automotive, Bernheim Arboretum and Research Forest, Champions Gourmet Popcorn, Kentucky Eye Care, Mr. Gatti's, Shaolin Kempo School of Martial Arts, Small Town Gallery, and more. This promotion will only last the month of September, so tell all your friends and start saving. For a full listing of participating businesses and offers, visit www.bcplib.org/LibraryCard.

Whether you are a lifetime library user or don't yet have a card, we hope you will join us in celebrating National Library Card Sign-up Month. Please sign up for your new library card, or tell a friend why a library card is the most powerful card in your wallet!

Great American Reads with BCPL! Participate in reading and activity challenges for a chance to win FREE books.

SEPTEMBER 1st-NOVEMBER 30th

Join the Great American Read with BCPL!

Celebrate your love of good books with The Great American Read! Designed to spark a national conversation about reading, literacy, and the books that have inspired us, moved us, and shaped us, The Great American Read is an eight-part PBS series and nationwide competition that explores the power of reading through the prism of America's 100 best-loved books. That's a mission we can get behind!

To that end, BCPL is introducing a three-month reading and activity challenge to help teens and adults celebrate their love of great books along with the rest of the nation. Participants will read, share, watch, and vote for a chance to win titles from the Great American Read collection of America's 100 best-loved novels. Several winners will be chosen.

Our program launches on September 1st, so stay tuned for more details!

“Transition” might be the vocabulary term of the year at the Bullitt County Public Library. We moved on from a checkout system that we have used for twenty years, we modified our network structure to increase internet speeds at all of our branches, we changed strategies to make sure that our priorities match up better with those of our patrons, and we are getting closer to the day when we will start taking construction bids on a new branch in Nichols, meaning we will be joining the five other counties in Kentucky that operate five or more locations. That’s a lot of change, and we hope to make the transition without putting a burden on our community.

Now, you might be saying to yourself “What’s the big deal, Joe? How is this going to make my life better?” That’s a great question, and one I can answer with two words: digital access. Let’s go over a few examples.

1. Say you’re one of the many people who want to read Girl, Wash Your Face by Rachel Hollis. The Library owns copies in a ton of formats, but the secret to getting it quickly is to go through Hoopla, where you can get it digitally as a book or audiobook without waiting in line. With our old catalog, we couldn’t keep some of our digital resources updated well enough to share information like that, but the new catalog updates digital holdings automatically, meaning you have access to more of our material faster and all through one menu.

2. 2020 (the year, not the show) is coming soon, and you want to do all you can to help Bullitt County have accurate Census data. We should all feel that way. Estimates are that Bullitt County was underreported by at least 10,000 people, and due to those 10,000 people not being counted, we lost a big chunk of the $675 billion in federal funds that are distributed annually using that data. Local estimates are that the underreporting cost Bullitt County over $20 million per year, not to mention that underreporting can cost states seats in the House of Representatives. So, to do your part, you decide to not only fill out your Census form and advocate to everyone you know and meet on the importance of filling out their forms, but you decide to apply for a Census job when they become available. The Bullitt County Public Library can help! You’ll be able to use our internet connection to submit your forms (a new option this time around), or use one of our computers to fill out your application. Our goal is to make our technology available to help reach an accurate count and help the people on the ground get what they need to be successful, and maybe help you get a job while we’re at it!

3. Perhaps you have, roughly, four nephews obsessed with the game Fortnite. Maybe you don’t know anything about the game, but you have recently heard that it’s available for some smartphones. You want to try it but you realize it’s a rather large download and your home internet is acting up. No problem! Come on down to the library and use our free Wi-Fi to connect with your family over the game—even if you maybe aren’t very good at it and don’t live very long at all.

In short, the transitions that Bullitt County Public Library is going through can (1) make it easier to access high-demand titles, (2) help you and your fellow Bullitt County residents get counted and therefore be heard, and (3) help you figure out why your nephews are constantly dancing in strange ways—among countless other benefits. So, if you’ve wondered why children are dancing like Snoop Dogg all of a sudden, the Bullitt County Public Library can provide the answer to your question.

PANEL 2: Writing 9–5 or When the Muse Strikes You?: The Differences Between Writing on a Schedule and When You Are Creatively Inspired

@ Ridgway Memorial

Join us at Ridgway Memorial Library on the second Saturday in October to connect with local authors and readers! You will have the opportunity to chat one-on-one with established authors about their work, their creative process, and their advice for getting published. Authors from a number of genres and categories will be present, including memoir, history, self-help, mystery, romance, and young adult fiction. We will also have light refreshments and giveaways!

This year's event will have a strong emphasis on author development. The public will still enjoy a meet-and-greet with local authors from 10:00 AM to 12:00 PM, but in the afternoon the focus will shift to events specifically designed with authors—both aspiring and professional—in mind. In the keynote session, sociology professor and author Bertena Varney will discuss how writers can harness the ever-changing pop culture industry—from Harry Potter to Charmed, Supernatural, Buffy, and beyond—to build a profitable writing career. Two author panels will follow.

For more information about attending authors—or if you'd like to sign up as a participating author!—visit www.bcplib.org/AuthorFaire.
